

BATTLE OF THE CITIES

The CHESS BOXING<sup>1</sup> CLUB BERLIN competes against the LONDON CHESS BOXING CLUB!

On 24 June 2011 there will be a showdown of brains and fists. In the warehouse of the Tape Club in Berlin, the two oldest chessboxing clubs of the world will face off against each other.

The Chessboxing Club Berlin, founded in 2005, is considered the origin of chessboxing. The hybrid martial art was invented here, and chessboxing was taught, refined and expanded into the world from here. The London ChessBoxing Club was founded in 2008 and has quickly become the second largest club in the world.

Fighters have come again and again from London to Berlin to claim a title for England, sometimes just for fame and honour. The Berliners have demonstrated first-class fights in London, where regular chessboxing fights have been held for several years now in the Boston Dome.

Now it's time to establish which city has the hardest thinkers and the cleverest fighters!

The best fighters of each club will face off in three matches at the chessboard and with boxing gloves.

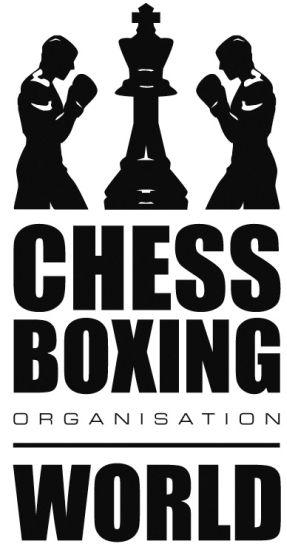

The coolest city in the world is fighting against the second-coolest city of the world.

Local matadors and experienced chessboxers like Sebastian Bauersfeld und Nick Cornish will appear, as well as newer talents such as Nils Becker und Carl Strugnell. Supporters from London and Berliner chessboxing fans will transform the warehouse of the Tape Club into a witches' cauldron, in which the one who wins will be the one who can think most clearly during all the excitement.

London vs. Berlin.

On Friday, 24 June 2011, at 7:00 P.M.

At the Tape Club, Heidestraße 14, 10557 Berlin.
